

The Farmer's Garden

Do You Have Extra Garden Produce?

Do you grow your own fruits or vegetables, but harvest more produce than you, your family, friends and co-workers can eat? Are you tired of eating zucchini, peas, beans or tomatoes every day? Does your family roll their eyes and groan when they see what's for dinner, again?

Do You Want Locally Grown Produce?

Do you live somewhere without a space to grow your own fruit or vegetables? Do you lack a green thumb or the time to plant and tend a garden? Would you like to eat fresh locally grown food?

The Solution

The Farmer's Garden is the place to post FREE classified ads to sell, trade or give away your extra backyard produce. Individuals and food pantries can also register to post wanted classifieds. If you're looking for fresh locally grown produce, visit The Farmer's Garden at www.thefarmersgarden.com, enter your US zip code, select the radius that you are willing to travel and see what people in your area have to offer.
